

SPANISH:

Linguascope

Linguascope is probably the best thing they can do as there are lots of topics and lots of games to practise the vocabulary:

www.linguascope.com

Topics they may want to look at according to what they have been learning so far this year but they can really go on anything, it will all be good practise:

Anything in the elementary section

Beginners section: numbers, weather, family, colours

Rockalingua

They may like to listen to some of the songs on www.rockalingua.com but we don't have log in details to that, so they can just access the free stuff.

Intercultural understanding

Also, if you are looking for larger projects your child could always do a cultural investigation and present something about Spanish culture or the culture of any Spanish speaking country. They could choose any topic that interests them to research (e.g. food and drink, music, festivals etc) and present what they have learnt about it in any way they choose (PPT, writing, or even through cooking and taking photos of it or whatever creative way they can think of).
